

Stanwood-Camano School District

Family Communication January 8, 2021

We hope all of our families, students and staff are healthy after the holiday season. As mentioned in our December 10 communication, the district will resume its current in-person instruction model for P-12 special populations and K-3 students that are currently being served in the hybrid model on January 19, 2021.

Based upon the updated Department of Health and OSPI guidance, we will be bringing back grades 4 and 5 students in an AA/BB hybrid model beginning February 1.

On January 15, we will review case counts and discuss a timeline for returning our middle and high school students to in person learning.

Please continue to follow the health department guidance of avoiding gatherings with individuals outside of your own households, avoid travel outside of Washington State, and follow all other strategies to reduce transmission of COVID 19 (e.g. hand washing, mask wearing).

Thank you for your support of the Stanwood-Camano Schools, our staff and students.
